

Engineer, Sr. Test

This Test Engineering position, located in Clearwater, FL., is in the Hardware Qual and New Product Introduction Test Engineering organization of Honeywell Aerospace division. . The group is responsible for performing Hardware Qual Testing and defining/developing methods and strategies for testing new products for Inertial Navigation and Global Positioning Systems (INS/GPS) in Aircraft, Surface and Missile Systems.

- Under the direction of the Test Manager, the Engineer will be responsible for developing detailed Qual Test Plans and overseeing all testing performed by Technicians.
- Upon completion of testing, the Engineer will generate detailed technical reports. There will be frequent interaction with Design and Systems Engineering, Technical Directors, Program Management and the Integrated Supply Chain.
- In addition to Hardware Qual, responsibilities may include defining test strategies for new products and supporting production test in capacity planning and failure analysis.

Basic Qualifications:

- B.S. degree in Engineering or Science from an accredited school.
- 5+ years of Test Engineering experience.

Additional Qualifications:

- Working knowledge of Hardware Qualification test methods.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Knowledge of Inertial Navigation and Global Positioning Systems.

If you are interested, please forward your resume as a Word document to marthamccabe@spherion.com .

Contact information:

Marti McCabe
Sourcing Specialist
Honeywell Staffing Team - ACS/SM
Spherion, Honeywell's Staffing Partner
Office: 561-731-2537/800-508-2136
FAX: 954-375-9692
EMAIL: MarthaMcCabe@spherion.com

EOE